

DOLMAR SENSACIÓN MP

SOLUBLE MANNOPROTEÍN

APPLICATION

Within the objectives pursued during the wines lees aging process some aspects are to be emphasized: color stability, protections against degradation and increase in volume aromas and velvety in wines.

It is known that compounds released during yeasts autolysis are primarily responsible for this improvement, mainly peptides, amino acids, sterols and polysaccharides, especially mannoproteins.

SENSACIÓN MP offers these mannoproteins in a completely soluble presentation. They are extracted from bark of selected yeasts (saccharomyces cerevisiae) and then enzymatically hydrolyzed, recovered and purified, obtaining a high quality product.

CHARACTERISTICS

Improvements achieved with SENSACIÓN MP utilization:

- Organoleptic improvement, full in the mouth enlarged and unctuousness feeling.
- Reduction of astringency and bitterness. Mannoproteins interact with phenolic compounds and polish the most aggressive tannins.
- Balance of acidity feeling.
- Improvement not only in color stabilization but also in tartaric and protein stabilizations, joining together with other polysaccharides to proteins and tannins.
- Increase in aromatic persistence.
- It increases full in the mouth.
